

NORWAY MOUNTAIN GUIDES ENVIRONMENTAL VALUES

- OUR ACTIONS TOWARDS SUSTAINING THE ENVIRONMENT -

Our core values

At Norway Mountain Guide we are committed to protecting nature. We follow Leave No Trace principles, minimize our footprint, and educate guests on responsible outdoor practices. By respecting wildlife, staying on trails, and reducing waste, we ensure Norway's landscapes remain pristine for future generations.

The travel industry may never become entirely environmentally friendly, but we can contribute to reducing footprints through actions, not just impressive documents.

What we actively engage in to sustaining the environment:

- Several of our trips are designed to start and finish in Bergen city centre, eliminating the need for additional transportation.
- NMG offer "Green Discount" for participants arriving at our courses/trips via public transportation (bus/train).
- Waste Collection - We engage in litter cleanup activities, involving our guests and providing them with waste bags for responsible disposal.
- Guest Education - We provide teaching of our guests on the importance of protecting vulnerable ecosystems.
- We emphasize the reuse of various products, such as second-hand skis from thrift stores like Fretex and other environmental stations, to avoid unnecessary production. Despite potential cost savings through sponsorships, we willingly pay more for used products to promote sustainability.
- Equipment Rental - We offer a range of equipment for rent.
